On the face of it, it looks like the party of a lifetime.

Katy Perry, Rihanna, the Queen, Lady Gaga, David Beckham and Johnny Depp all rubbing shoulders at the same private members' club in London.

But on closer inspection, all is not what it seems.

The 'a-list' guestlist for the party was in fact a group of celebrity lookalikes, gathered together by photographer Alison Jackson.

Jackson, famous for her lookalike photographs of the royals and celebs, gathered together some of the models she works with at the George Club for the fundraising bash in aid of the Spinal Injuries Association.
