They famously hit it off during their time together on the last series of Britain's Got Talent.

And it seems that Simon Cowell and David Walliams' relationship is going from strength to strength.

At least, that's what Alison Jackson, maker of the new BBC Three comedy series Celebrity Bitchslap News, would have us believe.

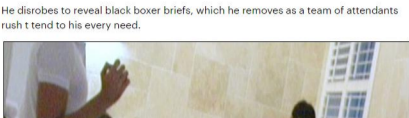

Believable? David Walliams and Simon Cowell lookalikes are 'caught' in the bath together in a hilarious new BBC3 sketch show

The show features a hilarious sequence made with David and Simon lookalikes in which the pair enjoy a romantic bubble bath together.

A video shows 'Simon Cowell'- clad in a dressing gown and sunglasses- enter a luxurious bathroom.

He disrobes to reveal black boxer briefs, which he removes as a team of attendants rush t tend to his every need.

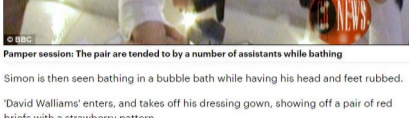

Pamper session: The pair are tended to by a number of assistants while bathing

Simon is then seen bathing in a bubble bath while having his head and feet rubbed.

David Walliams' enters, and takes off his dressing gown, showing off a pair of red briefs with a strawberry pattern.

Removing the briefs, he then joins Simon in the bath, and yet more helpers arrive to ensure they are being looked after.

Lots on your mind? Simon Cowell is given a head massage- while wearing sunglasses of course

Every need tended to: Simon had his feet gently rubbed by a female attendant

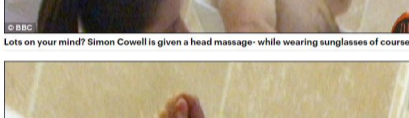

Walliams giggles as Simon puts his feet up in the tub, and the pair toast.

Once out of the bath, Simon is rigorously towelled off by his aids, who also hair dry his back hair.

David is similarly towelled to, and Simon is then manhandled into a very restrictive pair of 'corseted' draws.

Towelled off: Simon ensures that he's dry all over- with a little help of course

Missed a spot! Simon's back hair is blow-dried by yet another of his staff

Patting him dry: David is given similar attention by the army of white-clad attendants

The video ends with Simon- still wearing sunglasses- admiring himself wearing the underwear in a mirror.

Celebrity Bitchslap News is a spoof celebrity gossip show that brings you the 'real stories' behind the headlines.

Footage captured by members of the public on their camera phones, recorded on CCTV cameras and leaked by indiscreet staff, this is every celeb PR's worst nightmare - all as imagined by BAFTA winner Alison Jackson.

Getting dressed: Simon slips into a very snug-looking girdle

Suck in! The lady attendant tries to get the girdle on as tightly as possible

Like what you see? Simon inspects himself in the mirror in the final shot

They ask: 'How does Simon Cowell stay looking so good?', 'What's Rihanna's latest tattoo all about?' and 'What really happened at Justin Bieber's 18th birthday party?'

Hosts Sean Young and Pips Taylor, accompanied by their roving reporter and Hollywood correspondent, round up the hot stories, while a clever blend of real archive images and fake footage means viewers can never be 100 per cent certain what is real.
