Kate Middleton and Meghan Markle lookalikes have been captured in spoof photos having a 'cat fight' at the palace.

The two duchesses can be seen 'clawing' at each other in the 'violent brawl' with Meghan dragging Kate by her perfectly blow-dried brunette hair across the floor.

Meghan, appearing to be the most aggressive out the pair, is also pictured shoving and kicking Kate in her nude stiletto heels during the 'tussle'.

The photos were snapped by Alison Jackson, famed for producing mock royal photos, including these ones of Meghan and Harry doing yoga.

And these ones of Prince Harry secretly marrying Meghan in Las Vegas.

The latest photos of Meghan and Kate appear to poke fun at their rumoured feud.

As we previously reported, the widely reported rift is claimed to have begun during a dress fitting for Princess Charlotte, where Meghan is said to have made the Duchess of Cambridge cry.

However it emerged this week that Kate is reportedly throwing Meghan a second baby shower after missing out on the one in New York.

The Duchess of Cambridge is said to be hosting the event in which Meghan's 'glam squad' and relatives will be on the guest list.

Kate, 37, missed Meghan's bash in the Big Apple last week as, according to a royal source, she was on a skiing holiday with Prince William and their children.

However, they were also apparently spotted at a luxury spa in Norfolk.

And it appears Kate is keen to get involved in celebrating the arrival of the new little royal, who will be a cousin to Prince George, Princess Charlotte and Prince Louis.

A royal source told Us Weekly: "There is still going to be some sort of private baby-centric event for Meghan's UK people, and Kate will host."

"Her glam people and other relatives will be there. Not sure if it's a total baby 'shower,' but you could probably call it that."

Meghan's mum, Doria Ragland, is rumoured to be attending the UK bash.

Meghan, 37, enjoyed a luxurious five-day break in New York with a host of celebrity pals including Amal Clooney and Serena Williams.

She stayed in a penthouse suite at the five-star Mark Hotel and dined out at some of her favourite restaurants and cafes.

Meanwhile, the date of the UK baby shower is not known - and may put to bed rumours of a rift between the princes' wives.
