In terms of celebrity marriage years, Katie Price and Peter Andre split up lifetimes ago.

But a quick glance at the pic above and you could almost believe the attention-hungry couple are back together and back at it.

In that case, stop squinting and take a proper look. The pair aren't actually having a bale of a time – it's a pair of lookalikes almost gazing into each other's eyes.

No chance the real Katie Price and Peter Andre would couple up again for such country pursuits – even though reviews of their TV shows have been savage.

The pose is part of a new shoot by photographer Alison Jackson who utilises doubles of celebs to create paparazzi-style parody images.

In April, the 41-year-old used impersonators of Prince William and Kate Middleton to launch her book presenting a spoof behind-closed-doors take on the royal wedding.

And in June, the snapper memorably mocked up Wayne Rooney's hair transplant operation in a graphic shoot which illustrated a needle being injected into the impersonator's forehead.

She even appealed for Pippa Middleton bum doubles to come forward, posting an advert on her website under the headline WANTED: Pippa Middleton bum look-a-like.

She wrote: "Happen to know a backside as pert as Pippa's? Alison Jackson would like to see it."
