Pippa Advert for Bumlookalike

Pippa Middleton's bum has become the hottest property in the world and now celebrity artist Alison Jackson is on the hunt for Pippa's perfect pert double.

Alison, who is well known for her parody pictures of the Royal family, and celebrities like Cheryl Cole and David and Victoria Beckham, posted an advert on her website under the headline WANTED: Pippa Middleton bum look-a-like.

She wrote: "Happen to know a backside as pert as Pippa's? Alison Jackson would like to see it."

The advert suggests that Pippa is about to get the same treatment that Jackson has handed out to other celebs - most recently Wayne Rooney.

Similar adverts have appeared on gumtree.com and starnow.co.uk asking for bottom doubles to attend a casting call.

One read: "We're ideally looking for Pippa's bum, but if you have the face too, even better!"

Pippa's bottom caused a real stir around the world when she stepped out in her bridesmaid dress for the Royal Wedding and Kate's sister is already the hot favourite to win Rear of the Year.

A music mash-up YouTube video dedicated to her bum has attracted just under one million views.

In one clip it appears as though a clergyman is nodding in approval of Pippa's derriere.

Pippa's derriere also has its own Twitter and Facebook accounts.

The Twitter account, @pippasass, which was set up on the day of the wedding, is dedicated to the maid of honour's rear and has more than 2,000 followers.

The first tweet after the Royal Wedding read: 'Wow what a wedding. What did people think of my Bum? #royalwedding #pippasarse.'

A Facebook group praising her assets has already attracted more than 200,000 fans.

The Pippa Middleton Ass Appreciation Society is full of fans extolling the virtues of Prince William's sister-in-law.

While many of the comments are crude, one fan wrote simply: "I GET IT! this is why everybody was excited about the wedding!"
